

NewSchool of Architecture And Design

Consortium Agreement

Please Read: A Consortium Agreement is an agreement between schools whereby the home school disburses federal aid for courses taken at a host school. The host school agrees not to disburse federal aid and to monitor the student's enrollment for the home school. Consortium agreements may be made between NewSchool of Architecture and Design (NewSchool) (home school) and a host school if the student has been approved by NewSchool to take coursework at the host institution that will transfer toward the NewSchool degree program. NewSchool degree seeking students must submit to the NewSchool Office of Financial Aid, a copy of the NewSchool of Architecture and Design Permission to Take a Course at Another Institution Form that is signed by NewSchool's Admissions Office and a Consortium Agreement Form signed by the host school's financial aid office. Students must also meet all other federal eligibility requirements. If the student is approved for a consortium agreement by NewSchool, NewSchool will disburse federal aid to the NewSchool student account and the Bursar's Office will issue the refund to the student. The student is responsible for meeting payment deadlines set by the host school. NewSchool of Architecture and Design does not pay the host school on behalf of the student and NewSchool of Architecture and Design does not alter the financial aid disbursement schedule to meet deadlines set by the host school.
